

Peddlers were salesmen who traveled to towns and villages selling an assortment of small, inexpensive items such as cheese, eggs, salt, pots, pans, tools, knives, shoes, and cloth.